College Attendance Patterns* of Idaho 2010 College-Bound Seniors Who Took the AP®, PSAT® or SAT®

The College Board collaborated with the National Student Clearinghouse to match test takers who graduated from Idaho high schools in 2010 against the Clearinghouse's database of college enrollment. The first set of charts below (blue) shows the total number of Idaho test takers enrolled in one of the more than 3,300 post-secondary institutions nationwide that participate in the Clearinghouse and the breakdown of that college enrollment total by gender. The second set of charts (green) shows the number of test takers enrolled in college who attend an institution within Idaho versus outside the state and the in-state/out-of-state breakdown by gender.

Through its low-cost educational research service, StudentTracker℠, the Clearinghouse can enable any state to track college enrollment for all of its high school graduates (not just those who took the SAT®). To request additional information on the Clearinghouse and its StudentTracker for High Schools service, contact highschools@studentclearinghouse.org or call 703-742-4211. The Clearinghouse, a non-profit organization, is the nation's trusted source for postsecondary and secondary student degree, diploma and enrollment data. Data are provided regularly by more than 3,300 participating colleges and universities that enroll over 93% of all U.S. college students.

Further statistics on AP®, PSAT® and SAT® test takers, such as college enrollment by race/ethnicity or type of institution attended (two-year, four-year, public, private), are available by contacting your College Board Regional Office representative. The College Board is a mission-driven not-for-profit organization that connects students to college success and opportunity. Founded in 1900, the College Board was created to expand access to higher education. Today, the membership association is made up of more than 5,900 of the world's leading educational institutions and is dedicated to promoting excellence and equity in education. Each year, the College Board helps more than seven million students prepare for a successful transition to college through programs and services in college readiness and college success — including the SAT® and the Advanced Placement Program®. The organization also serves the education community through research and advocacy on behalf of students, educators and schools. For further information, visit www.collegeboard.org.
