

Predicting College Readiness

Longitudinal research demonstrates the relationship between academic preparedness, as measured by SAT® scores, and the likelihood of college success.

